Since 1754, rebellious couples have fled to say 'I Do' in Gretna Green, a charming village on the border, nestled in the picturesque Scottish countryside. Runaways travelling on foot would catch sight of the Famous Blacksmiths Shop's glowing forge, a beacon of hope in the distance. Meanwhile, those fortunate enough to arrive by horse and carriage would be welcomed at the stables of Gretna Hall. Both would find the blacksmith and marry over an anvil, forging their lives together.

Experts in small weddings, our award-winning, family-run business established in 1886, has forged couples' hearts together for almost 140 years. You too can marry in the same iconic and authentic rooms where runaways eloped.

GRETNA HALL MARRIAGE ROOMS

In days of old, runaways would arrive by horse-drawn carriage at Gretna Hall's stables, hurrying to find a blacksmith to marry them. Today, three uniquely designed marriage rooms sit in the original stables, less than a minute's walk from the hotel amidst its ten acres of grounds.

Decorated with an elegant colour palette, stunning year-round floral arrangements and bespoke finishings, this venue boasts a luxurious setting and is perfect for couples looking for a traditional, seated, aisle wedding.

All the Gretna Hall marriage rooms have a Gretna Green anvil. Legend has it that if you touch one, it will bring you good luck in affairs of the heart.

THE COACH HOUSE

The authentic room where couples once leapt from their carriages to say "I do." An atmospheric candlelit room with an ancient, rustic flagstone floor and whitewashed walls. Exchange vows before an original 19th-century carriage.
